The Story of the Yale-Harvard Game BY RADIO

How the Broadcasting is Arranged

"... the General Electric Company has arranged with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for special leased telephone wires connecting the New Haven football field with WGY, the broadcasting studio at Schenectady. In addition to the telephone in which studio at Schenectady. In addition to the telephone in which Mr. McGeehan will speak... two special microphones have been set up on the field: one on the Yale cheering side and one on the Harvard side. In this way the radio will pick up the cheering as well as the detailed story of the game... It will be necessary for Mr. McGeehan to be in New Hayen the night before the game so that instruments and wires can be adjusted to his voice."—From a memorandum covering arrangements for RADIO fans - When you listen in on WGY this
